*We know that for some of you the request to tag each of your items with a unique code is time and labor intensive. If you prefer to make all of your items a single code or each category of items a single code, you may do so. Keep in mind the downside. Without single item coding (1) it will not be as easy for you to evaluate which items sold well or not so well and (2) we cannot track what happened to any individual item which we sometimes do for missing items after the sale.
